ANZSOM Annual Scientific Meeting 2019 Sponsorship & Exhibition Prospectus

ANZSOM, together with AFOEM as our scientific partner, is planning the Occupational Medicine conference of the year. In Making it Work we offer networking, collaboration, education and experience

The Australian and New Zealand Society of Occupational Medicine (ANZSOM) is joined by program partner, the Australasian Faculty of Occupational and Environmental Medicine (AFOEM), to present the 2019 Annual Scientific Meeting in Adelaide, hosted by the South Australia and Northern Territory Branch of ANZSOM.

The technical program will comprise three full days and will be attended by occupational physicians, general practitioners, occupational health nurses, allied health practitioners, safety professionals and others with an interest in occupational health. An exceptional line up of speakers and topics is on offer, with experts drawn from local centres of excellence, as well as from interstate and overseas. We are proud to welcome Dr Gary Franklin as our keynote speaker and international guest, courtesy of ReturntoWorkSA's Platinum Plus sponsorship. Sonic HealthPlus, a long-standing supporter of the conference, has also taken up Platinum sponsorship this year.

A wide range of additional opportunities exist for sponsoring and exhibiting at ASM 2019. Extensive marketing exposure will be available leading up to the ASM and during the conference. The ANZSOM ASM continues to grow with over 180 delegates registering in Melbourne in 2018.

We invite you to participate in the 2019 ASM. Contact ANZSOM at secretariat@anzsom.org.au to discuss sponsorship packages which can be tailored to your preferences.
